

Plasmodium falciparum antigen

The following tests are available:

- Malaria antigen, thick drop, microscopy/immunoassay[^]

Indication: Suspicion of malaria, acquired fever in areas with malaria risk

Material: 3 ml EDTA blood

Preanalytics: collection during fever peaks

TAT: same day, FML

Method: Blood smear, thick drop, IA

- Malaria IgG antibodies

Indication: Clarification of earlier fever attacks after traveling in malaria risk areas, test is not suitable for the diagnosis of acute malaria.

Material: 1 ml serum

TAT: 7-10 days*

Method: EIA

Units: index

Ref.range: see report

For complete list of laboratory test offered at Freiburg Medical Laboratory, please visit <http://www.fml-dubai.com/parameter-listings/>